

The concept of extremism. Administrative and criminal liability

Extremism is a commitment to extreme views and actions that radically negate the norms and rules existing in society. The basic basis of extremism is aggressiveness, filled with some kind of ideological content (meaning).

Extremism can be carried out by people who have a very different social and property status, national and religious affiliation, professional and educational level, age and gender group, and so on.

Extremist activity is understood as:

- 1) forcible change of the foundations of the constitutional system and violation of the integrity of the Russian Federation;
- 2) public justification of terrorism and terrorist activities;
- 3) inciting social, racial, national or religious discord;
- 4) propaganda of exclusivity, superiority or inferiority of a person on the basis of his social, racial, national, religious or linguistic affiliation or attitude to religion;
- 5) violation of the rights, freedoms and legitimate interests of a person and citizen, depending on their social, racial, national, religious or linguistic affiliation or attitude to religion;
- 6) obstruction of citizens' exercise of their electoral rights and the right to participate in a referendum or violation of the secrecy of voting, coupled with violence or the threat of its use;
- 7) obstruction of the lawful activities of state bodies, local self-government bodies, election commissions, public and religious associations or other organizations, combined with violence or the threat of its use;
- 8) commission of a crime motivated by political, ideological, racial, national or religious hatred or enmity, or motivated by hatred or enmity against any social group;
- 9) propaganda and public display of Nazi attributes or symbols or attributes and symbols similar to Nazi attributes or symbols to the extent of confusion;
- 10) public calls for the implementation of these actions, or mass distribution of deliberately extremist materials, as well as their production or storage for mass distribution;
- 11) public knowingly false accusation of a person holding a public position of the Russian Federation or a public position of a subject of the Russian Federation, in committing acts specified in Article 1 of the Federal Law of the Russian Federation dated 25.07.2002 No. 114-FZ "On countering extremist activity" and being a crime during the performance of his official duties;
- 12) organization and preparation of these acts, as well as incitement to their implementation;

- 13) financing of these acts or other assistance in their organization, preparation and implementation, including through the provision of educational, printing and material-technical base, telephone and other types of communication or the provision of information services.

Extremist materials are documents intended for publication or information on other media calling for extremist activities or justifying or justifying the need to carry out such activities, including the works of the leaders of the National Socialist Workers' Party of Germany, the Fascist Party of Italy, publications justifying or refuting national and (or) racial superiority or justifying the practice of committing military or other crimes aimed at the complete or partial destruction of any ethnic, social, racial, a national or religious group.

An extremist organization is a public or religious association or other organization in respect of which, on the grounds provided for by Federal Law of the Russian Federation No. 114-FZ of 25.07.2002 "On Countering Extremist Activity", a court has made a decision that has entered into legal force to liquidate or ban activities in connection with the implementation of extremist activities.
